In the Front Room.
(From Vogues.)

Chappie—Say, Barlow, look at that chorus girl sputting at us! I wonder which of us thus honored.

Barlow—it is probably I—who used to be my old nurse.

The Last Request.
(From Judge.)

"John," sobbed the dying poet's wife, "have you any last request to make?"

"Yes, I have," said the poet feebly, "don't let them write my epitaph in hexameters. I never could abide hexameters."
